LAUSCHE COMMUTES WILSON'S SENTENCE

'PRETENDER!' SAYS ARNALL OF TALMADGE

Legislature Votes For Son of 'Old Gene' In Tumultuous Early Morning Session.

ATLANTA, Ga. — (AP) — Defiant Gov. Ellis Arnall held his office against a yelling mob early today, after rejecting claims of a rival governor, Herman Talmadge, whom the legislature elected in a tumultuous, post-midnight session.

Arnall was escorted from the capitol unhurt by national guard officers and close associates, who barricaded the doors of the executive chamber to save him from violence.

In a brief, dramatic encounter, Arnall told the youthful son of the late Eugene Talmadge: "I cannot surrender to a pretender."

Talmadge, escorted by a committee of 25 legislators and followed by whooping, surging followers, pushed into Arnall's office at 2:15 a. m. (EST). It was a quarter-hour after the legislature had named him to the four-year term which his father, Eugene Talmadge, didn't live to serve.

Rivals Deadlock.

"I presume," he said, "that you have been informed that I have been elected as governor by the general assembly of Georgia."

Replied Arnall: "I understand the general assembly allegedly has elected you, but the general assembly cannot elect a governor. Accordingly, I respectfully but firmly refuse to yield the office to you, whom I consider a pretender."

"You were nice to come in," said Arnall pleasantly to Talmadge's back.

As Talmadge pushed through the crowd outside, a group sought to force its way into the executive office, but was blocked by P. T. McCutcheon, Arnall's executive secretary. An exchange of words led almost immediately to a fist-fight, which milled for two minutes in the governor's reception room. McCutcheon retreated into Arnall's private office, and barred the heavy door against the mob.

Talmadge had been sworn in shortly after 2 a. m. (EST) before a cheering legislature and a whooping, stomping gallery of Talmadge faithful who sat throughout the day watching the canvass of general election returns. He was elected, after a series of decisive roll-calls, by 161 to 87.

Lieut.-Gov.-elect M. E. Thompson, who cannot take office until his election is certified by the legislature later today, said he would fight for the right to serve as acting governor. "I shall insist," he said, "that the will of the people as expressed under the constitution, be not thwarted."

Arnall had announced his qualified resignation last Saturday, "effective immediately upon qualification of the lieutenant-governor," but Talmadge leaders maneuvered to prevent certification of Thompson until after Talmadge would be sworn in.

Talmadge, in his inaugural speech, declared he would support his father's "white supremacy" program to the fullest, and promised he would sign any revenue bill enacted by the legislature to finance expanded state services.

Talmadge arrived at the capitol shortly after 9:30 a. m. and was ushered into a small room off the governor's reception room where Adjutant General Marvin Griffin had set up his office.

Arnall, who left the capitol in the early morning under protection, returned shortly after Talmadge's arrival. As his first act, he installed Col. R. W. Colline, head of the State Guard, as adjutant general.

U. S. COURT ORDER GUARDS IRISH LASS

COLUMBUS —(INS)— A federal court order today blocked the removal from Columbus of Irish, 18-year-old Jane Orr Shepherd-Thompson by immigration authorities.

The order was issued by Judge Mell G. Underwood on the request of her attorneys, Dale D. Rapp and Thomas A. Joseph.

They declared that their Belfast-born client, fiancee of a Springfield sailor, might be "spirited away" from her temporary home with family of a Columbus policeman. The girl became liable for deportation when she took a job as a waitress in Springfield while in this country on a visitors' permit.

French Army Aims At Annam Capital

PARIS— (INS) —French troops were reported to have mounted a large-scale offensive today against Viet Nam fighters to clear a path to Hue, capital of Annam, in the Indo-China fighting.

The Viet Nam native radio asserted French forces are moving to clear the Hanoi-Hue road to lift a blockade of the latter city.

Nature Slips, But Boy Gets Teeth at Last

CHICAGO — (U.P.) — A four-year-old boy got his first set of teeth today, a full set all at once.

The boy, whose name was withheld, never will have teeth of his own. Dentists at Northwestern university provided him with a full set of artificial baby teeth.

The tiny dental plates are about the size of a 50-cent piece. They are made of plastic and contain 20 teeth. The normal number for a four-year-old. They are necessary because the youngster was born with anodontia, a condition in which even the beginning of teeth are absent.

SECOND PLAN TO BY-PASS CITY OFFERED

Alternate Proposal Calls For New Highway to South of Mansfield.

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth of a series of articles on Mansfield's traffic and highway problems.)

By PHILIP GREENE

While the state highway department's proposal to create a super-highway through Mansfield stressed preference for a route through the northern and around the western part of the city, an alternative and cheaper proposal was offered in a bypass to the southeast.

Leaving U. S. Route 42 at Ashland hill, the southeast route would extend southward along the corporation line east of Oak street, curve gently westward to intersect State Route 13 about one mile south of the Mansfield corporation line, continue westward until it connected with the present Route 42 slightly more than a mile from the Mansfield city limits, then pass southwestward into Lexington on the west side of the village and join the present Route 42 at the southern edge of the town.

"The proposed route, if constructed on the southeast location, will provide good, modern alignment and gradient through its rural sections," says the report compiled by Meredith P. Lichtenwalter, former Ashland division engineer who designed the plan.

Greene

"It will traverse a location that will involve small damage to existing property and will require few structures for the separation of grades. It will carry 'through' traffic through or around Mansfield safely, with ease and speed and will reduce total traffic volumes on several streets in the business section of Mansfield from 7 to 15 per cent."

Submitted by Lichtenwalter in 1945, the report estimated the cost of the northern route at $11,000,000 (since revised by former

Parking Lot Measure Stirs Interest Here

Still another means of relieving Mansfield's traffic problems loomed today in a state senate bill offered to permit cities to condemn land for off-the-street parking.

Proposed by State Senator Evert Addison, Columbus Republican, the bill would permit municipalities to exercise their right of eminent domain in obtaining land for city parking lots.

According to the International News Service, the measure would authorize cities to take such action even if the property were to be turned over to private operators of parking facilities.

In Mansfield such action has repeatedly been urged by the Amima club. Ashland, among other nearby cities, already has a large city parking lot where vehicles may be parked without charge.

Canol Oil Project Ends on Junkpile

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes disclosed today that Canada had agreed to let the United States junk and sell piecemeal part of a $133,000,000 wartime white elephant—the Canol oil refinery and pipe line project.

The senate war investigating committee denounced the enterprise in a report last fall as a "flaming waste." The committee said the action of Admiral Ernest J. King and General Brehon Somervell of the joint staff in persisting with the project was a "blot on the record of two otherwise able officers."

OHIO SENATE STUDIES VET BONUS PLANS

2 Proposals Limit Payments To $500 Ceiling, Third Sets No Maximum.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Three plans for paying up to $500,000,000 in bonuses to Ohio veterans of World War II were under senate study today, with more proposals expected.

All programs based payments on the number of months in service but two limited bonuses to $500. The third set a $50 floor but specified no top.

Bonds would be issued to pay the bonuses if voters at elections next November approved changing the constitution to permit increasing the state debt beyond its present $750,000 limit.

The bonds would be retired in two plans by money raised from taxes against realty and other property. The other program would use sales tax collections, increasing the present rate if necessary.

The three proposals were among a score of bills introduced in the legislature yesterday, the first day after inauguration of Gov. Thomas J. Herbert.

Senators continued work today but expected to join representatives who went home Tuesday to await Herbert's message to a joint senate-house session next Monday night.

More Bills Expected.

Legislative leaders said they expected introduction of more bonus programs and speculated that few of them would escape changes in their course through both houses.

The first bonus resolution was sponsored by Sens. D. A. Liggitt of Logan county and Albert L. Daniels of Highland county, both Republicans. It provided payments of $10 monthly to $500 for those in service between Dec. 8, 1941, and the war's end.

Sen. Robert A. Polock (R., Stark) proposed service bonuses of $20 a month without limit for disabled veterans, and payments to $500 for others at the rate of $10 monthly for domestic and $15 for foreign service.

The third plan was sponsored by Sens. Fred G. Reiners and Kyle F. Brooks, both Cincinnati Republicans. Bonuses would be at the $10-$15 domestic-foreign monthly rate for service between Dec. 7, 1941, and last Sept. 2. A $50 floor but no maximum was set.

F. H. CAMPAIGN NEARING GOAL

With $54,820 of the $60,000 goal already contributed toward the Friendly House campaign, Paul W. Endriss, campaign chairman, predicted today the drive would be a success. It officially closes tonight.

Largest contributor yesterday was the American Legion auxiliary of McVey Post No. 16, which gave $500. Contributions yesterday were $2,706.

Endriss said that "from all indications, the drive will be a success." He warned, however, that success is contingent on contributions from employes of several industrial plants which as yet have not reported.

Although the drive ends today, Endriss said the "clean up" would continue for the balance of the week, or possibly longer.

Other contributions received from groups yesterday included $218 from the Richland Medical society auxiliary and Red Cross Nurses' Aides; $50, Mayer drug store, and $25 each from Sons of Italy lodge, Macedonian Youth group, Richland Youth cooperative and Temple Emanuel sisterhood.

SEA TRIP'S ROUGH

NEW YORK—(INS)—There is no doubt today that it was a rough week for sailing the Atlantic ocean. Dr. Hans Ribbing, chief physician on the Swedish-American liner Gripsholm reported he had given out more than 10,000 pills for seasickness on the 11-day crossing from Goeteborg.

Senior High Band Marks Anniversary

Senior high school band members, past and present, got together for an anniversary dinner party last night at Prospect park pavilion and it was a toss-up whether the first members of the band or the 1947 bandsmen had the most fun.

The dinner marked the 25th anniversary of the founding of the band. More than 90 persons, including members of the original organization, members of the present band and guests filled Prospect park pavilion.

"We had a lot of fun recalling some of the amusing incidents that happened during those first days," J. Merton Holcombe, band master who organized the group, commented with a chuckle.

And helping to recall those high spots of humor were Charter Members Oliver C. Henkel, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kinton (Mrs. Kinton is the former Maxine Leap of the band), Donald McGinley of Elyria, Calvin Walters, Chester Brubach and John Cunning.

A few of the original 20 couldn't make it, but they sent their regards. Miss Ruth Schaaf, band secretary, read letters from Cecilia Parsons Miller of Stamford, Conn., and Myron Sharp of Pittsburgh. Clerk of Courts Howard Wenning, also an original band member, was unable to attend because of the illness of his father.

Mrs. Miller, who drum majored the first band was also the first girl in the United States to drum major a Class A high school band.

For the most part, the spotlight of the banquet was thrown on the first members as each rose to give a few comments on the organization to which he or she had belonged. The dinner was given by the Band Parents' club whose annual fund raising campaigns keep the ensemble one of the smartest dressed groups in the state.

Highlights of the past 25 years in the Senior high's band history, were given by Holcombe.

3 JAPS SURRENDER

MANILA — Three Japanese stragglers who had been hiding in the jungles and mountains of Bataan peninsula since March of 1945 surrendered today to Filipino military police.

NORWAY WANTS 'SECRET' TOLD

OSLO —(U.P.)— The Norwegian parliament sought from Foreign Minister Halvard Lange today an explanation of a two-year-old secret understanding in which, the Russians say, Norway agreed to joint Soviet-Norwegian defense of the bleak Spitzbergen archipelago.

Lange has promised a full account of the Spitzbergen talks for the Storting (parliament) which opened a new session yesterday. A Laborite, he is under pressure from the conservatives.

A broadcast by Moscow radio, reported that early in 1945 "an understanding was reached about the necessity of joint defense of the Spitzbergen islands." It said the question was discussed again between Lange and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in New York last November.

Norway won sole sovereignty over the glacier-covered group of islands in the Paris treaty of 1920. It promised never to militarize them. Russia did not sign the treaty in 1920 but adhered to it a few years later.

Last night the Moscow broadcast denounced the treaty which, it said, "utterly disregards the interests of the security of the U. S. S. R. in the north as well as important economic interests of the Soviet Union."

UPHOLDS CONVICTION

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The Ohio supreme court upheld today the conviction of Herome A. Nevius, former Clark county prosecutor on a charge of accepting bribe money from gamblers, but set aside his conviction of accepting two automobiles as bribes.

LONDON DOCK WORKERS QUIT

LONDON—(U.P.)—An estimated 17,000 London dock workers walked off the piers today raising to approximately 65,000 the number of food and transport workers out on strike in London and 20 provincial cities.

Negotiators for the government and the huge transport and general workers union, whose jurisdiction is being defied by the strikers, struggled to find a back-to-work formula as the tie-up of Britain's arteries of commerce rapidly grew more intense.

Thames river barge men, truckers in the midlands, hotel and restaurant workers and other labor groups threatened to walk out.

A sheer stampede from their jobs by more than 100,000 workers appeared possible unless troops were withdrawn from handling strike-bound food in London markets and a quick settlement reached.

Leaders of the London truck strikers whose 10-day old walkout began the strike flurry met to decide whether they would accept a government-sponsored mediation plan. This plan was for the original strikers to resume work while the new joint industrial council considered their grievances.

If they refused, the sympathy strikes might eventually halt everything that moves food and supplies in England. It seemed unlikely the strike wave would reach such proportions, but the off-the-job mood was running strong.

Expedition Nears 'Little America'

ABOARD U. S. S. MT. OLYMPUS WITH BYRD EXPEDITION —(U.P.)—The central task group of the Byrd expedition was expected to arrive at Little America today after a gruelling 14-day fight with the Antarctic icepack.

Equipment and supplies will be unloaded at Little America and construction crews will set up a base for the expedition.

'Tenshun! For March Of Dimes

With the slogans "give double," and "the crippling effects of infantile paralysis cannot be met on a too little and too late basis," the Mansfield 1947 March of Dimes campaign got under way today.

Mansfield was fortunate in having only four cases of polio in 1946, a year which saw the nation hit by the worst epidemic since 1916, H. W. McClellan, drive chairman for the third consecutive year, said today.

"We were also fortunate in that three of the four cases did not require assistance from our funds. The one case which we were called upon to assist drained the $5,850.68 raised in 1946 to a low ebb. This fund must be rebuilt."

The county goal is "to surpass last year's $5,800 total."

The national goal is $24,000,000. Local collections are split 50-50 with the national organization.

LOCAL CHAPTER TREASURIES HIT

The more than 25,000 cases of polio in 1946 wiped out the treasuries of 64 per cent of the local chapters and the national foundation gave these areas $5,500,000, McClellan said.

The local drive will be sparked by poster advertising collection boxes, letters of solicitation, and a theater collection from Jan. 24-30.

On the committee for the drive are Atty. Marshall Moore, W. C. Mead, Lucille Bushey, Mrs. Katherine McMichael, H. G. Brunner, Sheriff Frank E. Robinson, Desmond Walker and Herb Golz of Shelby.

THAW SOFTENS COUNTY ROADS

Mixtures of rain, snow and sleet, plus the traditional January thaw, were bogging down Richland county's unimproved roads today.

County Engineer Walter E. Rusk reported that his road crews on earth-bound roads were forced to abandon slagging operations shortly after noon yesterday because of the soft surfaces.

"No roads are impassable but we found that our heavy trucks were doing more damage than help in the slagging operations. It seemed that the frost suddenly went out about 1 p. m." he said.

In the northern section of the county a relatively heavy fall of snow was reported and maintainers were called out to scrape it off the highways.

The precipitation, induced locally by a high temperature of 56 degrees last night, is due to taper off late today, forecasters said. Rain and colder weather are due tomorrow.

Precipitation at Hayesville measured .43 of an inch.

'APE' BOY READY FOR FACE CHANGES

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—(AP)—A 16-year-old Chicago boy who admitted trying to extort $5,000 to pay for plastic surgery on a facial deformity that "made me look like an ape," is here today for the operation he wanted.

The youth, who suffers from a congenital deformity in the forehead which gives him a perpetual scowl, pleaded guilty last December to trying to extort the money from his employer.

His story won the sympathy of Chicago industrialists, who contributed funds for the surgery needed. However, it was learned that Dr. Smith had refused money for the operation.

Milk Prices Show Signs of Dropping

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Howard G. Eisaman, market administrator of the Cleveland milk marketing area, confirmed today reports that milk prices may be reduced a cent-a-quart by Feb. 1. Eisaman reported that the price paid to producers for their December shipments was 28 cents lower than that paid for their November output. He predicted another drop of 28 to 30 cents a hundredweight in January.

"This latest drop, combined with the December price drop, would mean a reduction of more than one cent a quart," the market administrator said.

DENVER —(AP)— Lee Knous, western Colorado jurist, became Colorado's 27th governor today, the only Democrat in the nation to succeed a Republican chief executive.

MANSFIELDER GIVEN NEW HOPE FOR FREEDOM

Parole Board Reveals Crime In Moorhead Case Reduced To 2nd-Degree Murder.

Charles A. Wilson, who 11 years ago, at the age of 23, was sentenced to the penitentiary for the murder of Miss Jean Moorhead, 17-year-old Mansfield high school girl, has won a chance for freedom.

The Ohio Pardon and Parole commission announced today that Gov. Frank J. Lausche, in one of the last acts of his administration, commuted Wilson's sentence of first-degree murder to that of second-degree murder.

CHARLES WILSON

The action makes Wilson, now held at the London prison farm, eligible for parole. Spokesmen for the pardon and parole commission told the News-Journal today that a parole hearing could be held "anytime after three weeks from the date of commutation."

The pistol slaying of the pretty, socially-prominent girl rocked Mansfield in 1936 and made headlines throughout the nation.

Seated In Auto.

Miss Moorhead was almost instantly killed when three shots were fired at her as she sat in a parked auto in front of her home, 23 Western avenue, near midnight, April 3, 1936.

She died on the floor of the living room in her home soon after being lifted from the auto.

Wilson, on whose behalf many petitions for commutation had been circulated in recent years, was convicted May 8, 1936, by a Richland county jury which recommended mercy. Sentence of life imprisonment was passed by Judge C. H. Huston after a motion for a new trial was refused.

According to court testimony and the stories told by principals of the tragedy, Wilson and Miss Moorhead had been "sweethearts" for a number of years. The young man, who insisted in his confession that the shooting was accidental, admitted firing the shots at the girl when he found her parked in the auto with another young man, Haskell Smith, 19.

Wilson was apprehended by village police in Crestline less than two hours after the shooting took place.

In confessing, Wilson sobbed that 'It was accidental." "I didn't mean to shoot her. I only intended to frighten her a little and her boy friend."

Wilson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Wilson, 116 Parkwood boulevard, who said at the time that their son had brooded over his broken romance for 10 days preceding the shooting. They said the romance was broken when parents of the girl, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Moorhead, ordered it to cease.

The Moorheads now live at 29 Western avenue. Moorhead is an auto dealer.

PLANS WATER SOFTENER

BELLEFONTAINE —(INS)— A 100 thousand dollar water softening plant project was considered today by Bellefontaine city council.

Murray, You Can Take Bow

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Gov. Thomas J. Herbert's eight cabinet appointments were described as "admirable" to state senators who approved them unanimously.

Sen. Frank E. Whittemore, Republican floor leader, said lengthy discussion of cabinet appointees was not necessary but singled out one.

Murray D. Shaffer of Mansfield, new highway director, was termed "the outstanding highway engineer in the state."

Mayor Launches Citizens' Round-Table Series

Mansfield—in general—was open to constructive criticism today as Mayor Roy W. Vaughn launched a new program of round-table discussions between city officials and leaders of business and industry.

The discussions will be held in the mayor's office every other Wednesday morning.

Vaughn said: "The idea is to bring about a better understanding between the citizens and the city officials. We don't want 'gripe sessions'; we want criticism, but it should be constructive. We don't guarantee to accept every suggestion offered, but we want to find out what people are thinking so we can give them the kind of city they want."

Today, W. C. Peterson, managing editor of the News-Journal, appeared before members of the mayor's cabinet at 10 a. m.

Peterson, speaking before the group, lauded the idea of a planned program to bring before city officials the points of views of the taxpayers they serve.

"Essentially," he said, "the job of the News-Journal is the same as yours. You want to make Mansfield the best possible city in which to live and work. We want to sell the merits of the city to the people not only of Mansfield but of the surrounding area."

He cited a planned effort by the News-Journal to give page 1 space to worthwhile civic enterprises with the view to educating the people of nearby towns to the advantages to be found in Mansfield.

Toward that end, he said, he regarded it as a responsibility of city officials to let the public know the full facts on all city activities.

"Let's not be afraid of criticism, when we deserve it," he said, "but let's be sure that we don't invite unjust criticism simply because we've been hesitant about letting the true facts be known."

He suggested the placing on the city's early "must" list of a program for the re-marking of all streets, calling attention to the fact that many street signs are missing, others are so indistinct they cannot be read. He also urged long-range planning for the Mansfield of the future with the view to arriving at an intelligent solution to such problems as growing traffic congestion and the need for wider streets in the business area.

At successive meetings, a businessman, a minister, an educator, a laborer, an industrialist, a veteran, or other group leaders will be invited to appear.

The meetings are strictly informal.

The mayor strongly recommended that a group's representative "try to speak the mind of his group." "We're after a cross-section—not just one man's opinion," he declared.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

Charlie Keeps Stock

WASHINGTON—Just to show you what can happen to a fellow who gets his necktie caught in the wringer of this great bureaucracy, do you happen to remember old Charlie Harwood, the one Elliott Roosevelt's uncle, Hall, pointed that time when he was playing bird-dog for chumps to put money into the radio thing and Jesse Jones, later, drew a bead on, and missed, clean?

There was considerable indignation against Charlie because he wouldn't drop dead like John Hartford and Dave Baird and that fellow, Max Bielowski, or whatever his name was, but flapped away without shedding a feather when Jesse closed his eyes and went "blam!" He was out for judge of some federal court and he sort of figured that Elliott's old man could do that much for him, especially after his campaign contributions and the $25,000 that he put up for Elliott. But instead, the boss made him governor of the Virgin Islands, under Harold Ickes, which may have been Mr. Big's idea of a joke on Charlie. Then, when Jesse tried to scare him into giving up his $25,000 worth of stock for $500, saying it wasn't good, anyway, old Charlie figured that if it was so no dam good, why was Mr. Big so anxious to get it back?

AND, FURTHERMORE, governor of the Virgin Islands ain't judge of no federal court but a dog's life, with old Ickes always yapping why don't he stay down there on the job and how come he is always putting in for travel money back to Washington and making him sit out in the hall, waiting like a messenger-boy.

So, Charlie held onto his radio stock, which was lese majeste under Mr. Big, and just like taking $25,000 out of the mouths of Elliott's children because the old gent wanted this for the alimony fund, and, along about this time last year, a funny-sounding little piece came out of the White House one day.

It said in this little piece that Judge Bill Hastie, a colored fellow who had been doing a job under Patterson over at the War department, had been appointed governor of the Virgin Islands. Then it said somebody asked what about Charlie Harwood, what happened to him, what about him? And then it didn't say any more. Just Hastie appointed governor, period, new story and for all you know they took Charlie out and gave him the rub and slang him into a swamp.

Maybe Charlie was still governor of the Virgin Islands. Maybe they had two governors.

FINALLY, it came out. He wasn't fired and he didn't resign. But he never liked the job or the islands, either, and he did like to play bridge and it seemed every chance he got he would bob up in Washington or New York. So it didn't make much difference to him whether he was governor or not, except the $8,000 a year and that is just peanuts to Chas. and certainly not any compensation for what he had to take from old Ickes.

Now it turns out that if you are a presidential appointee, as Charlie was, you serve during the pleasure of the president. And when Mr. Truman came in he discovered that he wasn't getting any pleasure out of Charlie and when his pleasure stopped, Charlie was out. Governor Harwood just got a z in pleasure and Hastie got the job so now he can play bridge all the time, and when he sees Ickes he can tell him all he was telling the boys at the club he was going to tell him.

That is what happened to Charlie. Maybe he wasn't a very hot governor but I will bet you President T. has got a sneaking admiration for a fellow who sniffed the trap, smelled the hand of humanity's greatest friend and walked away with his stock. His old lady does have to give him credit for that.

Reports On Idleness

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—With my own ears I heard him. Rep. Ralph E. Church of Illinois stood up in meeting and said flatly that many federal employes are immoral.

Here you must imagine a row of exclamation points; these will resemble the congressional ears that perked up when Rep. Church, who lives on Church street in Evanston, made his statement.

The more a federal worker sits on his (her) handkerchief with nothing more to do than manicure her (his) fingernails, the more immoral he (she) becomes. I'm still quoting Rep. Church of Church street, ladies and gents of the government. I'm not saying one word, myself.

"Yes," continued Rep. Church, "many of these employes become immoral, wasting time, day after day. You can look at 'em any place. Take the War Assets Administration in Chicago. The workers there set no example for the rest of the population."

Fire a few hundred thousand federal workers, he continued, and they won't be so immoral. Then he sat down. The congressional ears ceased looking like exclamation points.

YES, SIR, agreed Rep. John W. Taber of New York, the chairman of the appropriations committee, when congress chops down the size of the federal job-holding army, the workers who are left will be happier.

"They won't be sitting there at their desks without enough activity to make them alert," he said. "The reduction will make them more active and more valuable to themselves and to the government."

Then it came out. Rep. Church wasn't charging the federal workers with gambling, opium smoking, or drinking champagne from the slippers of nearly-naked ladies. He meant that the business of collecting a federal pay check without doing much to earn it, is immoral in itself. I have consulted Webster and Merriam, too, and I am forced to agree. That word, immoral, covers a lot of ground.

The point of all this is that Taber & Co. don't seem to be fooling when they say they're going to fire a lot of federal job holders.

Taber, the gray-haired, bull-voiced keeper of the federal purse, wears a suit until it's threadbare. When he has to travel, he rides the day coach. The way the government is spending money, he says, is unconscionable and intolerable.

Tomorrow he expects to announce where some heavy firings will do the most good, but in the meantime he has no objection to mention as samples a few thousand federal workers he intends to snick off the payroll. There are too many jobholders at the federal communications commission, the interstate commerce commission, the national archives, the National Labor Relations board and (in particular) the commerce department, he said.

150 Attend Memorial Rites In City for Mrs. Bromfield

By NITA BRANSON

A beautifully solemn memorial service, based on the Episcopal Order for the Burial of the Dead, was held at Grace Episcopal church yesterday afternoon for Mrs. Annette Coulter Bromfield, whose death occurred at the home of her noted son, Author-Farmer Louis Bromfield at Malabar farm Jan. 7.

Rev. Samuel U. J. Peard, rector of the church, led the singing, prayer and worship for the hour's service, which was attended by about 150 relatives and friends.

OPENING THE SERVICE

were three Bach chorales, used as a prelude by Mrs. Dean Eckert, organist. The full choir of robed men and boys formed the processional, and as they took their places in the chancel, sang "Alleluia, the Strife is Over, the Battle Won," the first of three hymns which had been favorites of Mrs. Bromfield. Two other hymns, "Brightest and Best of the Sons of the Morning" and "Abide With Me: Fast Falls the Eventide" were included in the memorial ritual.

Rev. Peard chose texts from the Ecclesiasticus and St. John's for the service lessons, followed by the reading of Psalms 91 and 23. He said a prayer of personal commitment.

As Mrs. Eckert played the consolation theme from Mendelssohn's "Song Without Words" as a postlude the choir left the chancel in the recessional.

banked the front of the church auditorium. There were vases of white flowers on the altar and a vase of dozens of pink roses on the lectern.

Floral pieces were sent by Ex-Gov. Frank J. Lausche, who has visited frequently at Malabar farm; neighbors of the Bromfields in the Pleasant Valley community, and a number of organizations with which Mrs. Bromfield was affiliated.

Among the persons attending the services were Mrs. Bromfield's son, Charles Bromfield and Mrs. Bromfield of New York City; her grandson, John Mauger and Mrs. Mauger and Mrs. Ernest Necker of Chicago.

Additional services will be held for Mrs. Bromfield at Malabar sometime in the late spring.

CHOLLAR CALLS FOR OPTIMISM

"Optimism!"

One word keynoted the theme of last night's meeting of the Mansfield-Shelby Foremen's club held in the Westinghouse auditorium.

From the time the more than 300 guests approached the plant whose lighted windows gave evidence of 24-hour production, until the evening ended, the feeling of optimism grew.

Robert G. Chollar, director of research, National Cash Register company, Dayton, said in addressing the foremen:

"In reply to pessimists I say there are frontiers of the mind still to be explored and offering fields of expansion beyond the imagination."

Up and Down The Street

600TH FOX—

Another fox has annoyed Richland county farmers and hunters for the last time. He was the 600th on which the $3 bounty afforded by the county was claimed yesterday. Howard W. Stone of Bellville turned the four paws in to the sheriff's department and reported he bagged the animal in Jefferson township. Day before yesterday Hoy Shaffer, Bellville, collected $30 for the feet of 10 foxes he killed. Only one other hunter, Stanley Brackens, of near Lucas, has turned in more fox feet in one day. Back on Feb. 19, 1946, he collected the bounties on 11 of the sly animals.

HE DIDN'T MIND—

Overcrowding paid off last night as far as Harry W. Dailey, president of the Mansfield-Shelby Foremen's club was concerned. The Westinghouse cafeteria had been prepared for 312 dinners. When 316 crowded in, four were left to "dine while standing." Dailey was one, and he reported that it paid off in that "We fellows in the kitchen made out a little better on the eats than you fellows in the cafeteria."

METAL UNITS GET BOARD'S CONSIDERATION

Housing Program Stalled As Commisioners Wait For Cost Figures.

With Richland county's veterans' housing project apparently stalled, county commissioners today were studying the possibility of obtaining metal house trailers as home units.

C. L. Shoup, chairman of the board, said he would propose to the other two commissioners, John W. Selby and Guy F. Stewart, that an inspection of a display house trailer at Mt. Vernon be made.

Manufactured by the McCall Coach company of Springfield, the 27-foot aluminum trailers contain three rooms furnished with studio couch, drop table, end table, two magazine racks, sink cabinet, wardrobe, electric cook stove, oil burning heater, ice box, chest of drawers, and a full sized bed.

The trailer prices approximate $2,086 and upward. The company claims it has already filled orders for trailers from Knox and Clark counties.

"I don't know if they are suitable or not but we ought to look them over," Shoup said.

Four dwelling units allocated to the village of Shiloh have been erected for some time, but lack of plumbing installations have held up for weeks their completion.

Meanwhile, plans for an estimated 20 other units for Mansfield are hanging fire while commissioners wait to determine what final costs on the Shiloh units will be.

"We've got to see just how much money we will have left after the Shiloh units are completed," Shoup said. "As soon as the plumbing is installed we'll know and then we will have some idea of how much money to allow for sites, types of buildings and other details of the Mansfield units."

AAA PRACTICES PICKED FOR YEAR

Conservation practices for which Richland county farmers will be paid $90,925 during 1947 were selected by the County Triple-A committee, assisted by County Agent George B. Ganyard, last night and today were sent to the Production and Marketing Administration headquarters at Columbus for approval.

The county committee composed of Guy L. Taylor, Warren Eckstein and Raymond Landis saw little reason to think that any of the 12 recommended practices for Richland county would be disapproved.

Conservation practices recommended as applicable for Richland county were:

Contouring intertilled crops, contour seeding, contour strip cropping, establishing sod waterways, seeding pastures, green manure crops, construction of open farm drainage ditches, excavating of ditches for tile drainage, tree planting, mulching materials, liming materials, and application of fertilizer on pastures.

The county committeemen and Miss Martha Wentz, chief clerk in the county Triple-A office, were in Norwalk today atending a meeting of District 2 of the PMA of Ohio.

Death Takes Mrs. Murphy

Mrs. Murphy was a member of St. Peter's Catholic church and St. Rita's sodality.

Survivors include one daughter, Mary A. Murphy; one grandson, William U. Welsch; two granddaughters, Patricia Ann Welsch and Mrs. William R. Warden, and two great-grandchildren, all of Mansfield. One son and a daughter preceded her in death.

Friends may call at the residence after 7 p. m. today. Funeral arrangements, in charge of the Geiger funeral home, are incomplete.

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

PRAISE CONTINUES to reach this desk for the 11th annual News-Journal football banquet honoring teams of Mansfield Senior and Madison high school. . . . From Senior high school comes the following note:

Fred Tharp, Sports Editor,
News-Journal.
Dear Fred:

I am writing to you on behalf of the Tyger football squad, the coaching staff and the entire high school to thank you and the News-Journal for the superb banquet Monday night.

In our judgment, it was the best ever. The food, Bo McMillin, and the organization was wonderful. Its success showed the tremendous amount of thought and work expended to make it the unqualified success it turned out to be. To us, the banquet was without a doubt the climax of the season.

Sincerely,
Paul H. Snyder,
Mansfield Senior high coach.

We got our biggest kicks from seeing the fine grid squads of Madison and Senior high sitting side by side in the banquet hall. . . . Both were among the finest teams in their own class in the state of Ohio. . . . Olan LaRue, superintendent of Madison township schools, was "high" on the banquet and thanked the N-J for Madison's inclusion in the guest list of the 11th fete. . . . It was our pleasure suh!!!

Tami Mauriello, chubby New Yorker on the comeback trail after his kayo at the hands of Joe Louis, has signed for a 10-round bout with Akron's Freddie Schott at Newark, Feb. 5. . . . There are now 51 qualified minor leagues with 382 clubs scattered in United States, Canada, Cuba and Mexico. . . . Nine leagues have been added since last season. . . . Gus Dorazio, once America's fourth ranking heavy, has been sentenced to a year and a day in federal prison as a draft dodger. . . . He falsely represented himself as a war worker to escape induction. . . . Louis kayoed Gus in 1941 but the court has put him out of action for a longer period. . . . Basketball Association of America has banned the zone defense. . . . The zone slows down the game and after all fans who pay the pros freight like to see lots of scoring. . . . The BAA plays 15-minute quarters accounting for a lot of extra points. . . . High schools play 8-minute quarters. . . . The New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers will start their spring rivalry early. . . . They will play six games against each other in the tropics, three at Caracas, Venezuela, March 4, 5 and 6 and the others at Havana, March 8, 9 and 10. . . . BENGALS' ZONE PROVES TOUGH FOR WILD CATS

Nick Gagich Gets 13; Tyger Sophomores Lose.

Mansfield's Tygers gave the dope bucket quite a kicking around in clawing the Springfield Wild Cats into submission 33 to 29 last night on the Bengal hardwood.

Springfield, rated as one of Ohio's better scholastic combines, lived up to its press notices until running afoul of a potent Tyger zone defense and then Elwood Pitzer's whizzes were relegated to the role of also rans. It was victory No. 7 in 11 starts for Mansfield and only the fourth loss in 12 contests for the Wild Cats.

The Wild Cats started out with a bang and ran up an 11 to 6 lead in the first quarter. Springfield gave every indication of making a runaway of the tilt by piling up a 17 to 8 advantage. Then, with four minutes left in the half, Coach Vern Hoffman shifted the Tygers into a zone.

Nick Gagich tossed in a foul shot and Tommy Bloor rammed home a one-hander to close the half, Mansfield trailing 11 to 17.

Hoffman's proteges pared the Wild Cats' lead to 21-18 in the third quarter. Bloor and John Evans, Springfield, each connected on a pair of baskets to open the final stanza. Gagich hit a pair of one-handers from the sidelines and the Tygers led for the first time 26 to 25.

Dick Norman put Springfield field back in front with a two-handed jump shot to open the last four minutes, but Mansfield got seven straight points to cinch the result. Sisco had two baskets, Gagich one and Bloor hit a free throw in the streak.

The Tygers stalled during the last 90 seconds, although Don Wright hit a rebound in the final 30 seconds for Springfield.

Gagich led the scorers with 13 points while Bloor tossed in 11.

Neither team could hit from the free throw line. Mansfield made only three of nine attempts while Springfield made one of ten.

Mansfield's sophomores fell before the Springfield reserves, 44 to 43, in the preliminary. Springfield led at the intermission points, 11 to 5, 23 to 15, and 33 to 31.

The sophs pulled up to 29-29 and 31-31 deadlocks in the torrid third quarter. Bernie Weaver, Tyger cub forward, led both teams in scoring with 16 counters.

Tom Weaver, burly John Simpson tackle, has been signed for the main event of the third Friendly House-40 et 8 amateur boxing show Jan. 23 at Senior high, Mike Wentz, matchmaker, announced today.

Sid Cuckley, Akron Golden Gloves novice heavyweight champion, will box the hard-punching Weaver in the four-round headliner. Cuckley is expected to tip the scales at 186 and Weaver at 182.

Weaver has won three straight amateur decisions and won the plaudits of the crowd by beating well-built Olliss Levette, Marion, on the last F-H fight card. Weaver is strictly a slugger and throws more leather than most featherweights.

Wentz plans to go with 10 decision bouts and one exhibition go. The card will total 35 rounds of fisticuffs.

As an added feature Wentz plans a battle royal between six Friendly House scrappers.

Despite the furious bidding by both baeball and pro football clubs, the much-sought Trippi was expected to sign with the Yankees because of the double-barrelled opportunity to cash in quickly on his collegiate football reputation and further his dream of becoming a major league baseball star.

Presidet Dan Topping of the football Yankees said Trippi's successes in pro football was assured. Pesident Larry MacPhail of the baseball Yankeees said Trippi's success was assured.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — (INS) — Arnold "Mickey" Owen, former catcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers, seeks $9308.56 from Jorge Pasquel, Mexican baseball league operator, in a suit on file today in U. S. district court at Springfield.

The suit accuses Pasquel of an alleged breach of contract by the removal of Owen as a counter-claim to an action instituted by Pasquel, wealthy oil man and sportsman.

Plymouth May Extend Butler Friday Night

Butler's Bulldogs will find the going a bit rough come Friday night when they entertain Plymouth in the Richland county league.

Seeking their ninth consecutive win, Coach Wysocki's cagers will have to set up an air tight defense to stop Bob Hampton, high-scoring Plymouth forward.

Plymouth will bring a better than average record to Butler and promises to give the Bulldogs some of their roughest competition. Plymouth has won four of seven league games and six of 10 for the season.

Butler has rung up 364 points for an average of 45.5 a game, while holding its opponents to a mere 235 tallies. Plymouth has averaged 34.9 while allowing its foes 34.1. Butler won a previous game from Plymouth, 47 to 30.

Up and coming Ontario will be seeking its sixth win against Bellville on the latter's court. Ontario has dropped two games while the Blue Jays have been playing havoc with the league in winning six out of eight contests.

Coach Orville Kibler's Bellville combo has won three tilts by two points and eased past Lucas in an overtime.

Coach John Rees' Lexington combine should have little trouble in turning back Shiloh on the former's hardwood. The Minutemen will be seking their fifth county loop win while Shiloh has dropped eight games.

Lucas will be gunning for its third victory over Union, at Union. Coach W. S. Barger is counting heavily on Don Stake to add to his laurels in the scoring race.

Cleveland Rebels Dropping In Favor

CLEVELAND —(INS)— The Cleveland Rebels dropped a notch today in the favor of the home folks following another fourth-quarter black-out last night against Providence at the Cleveland Arena.

A crowd of 3,378 fans watched the Rebels build up a 64-58 three-quarter lead and then wilt before the fast-breaking steamrollers for their fourth consecutive home loss. When the dust had settled over the payoff period, Providence held a slim 78-74 margin.

Heidelberg Drops First of Season

Otterbein handed Heidelberg its first defeat of the season last night 51 to 41, and that left only one Ohio college team—Capital — unbeaten in a basketball season just reaching the halfway mark.

Heidelberg, playing on its home floor at Tiffin, had a 12-11 edge over the Otters at the end of the first quarter, but fell behind 30 to 23 at the half and never threatened. Shiffler and Farrel scored 21 and 15 points, respectively, for the winners.

In another Ohio conference game Forward Vince Barr tossed in 11 free throws and nine field goals for 29 points to lead Ashland to a 63 to 45 victory at Marietta.

Madison Nips Lexington For Sixth Straight Win

Mansfield Madison copped its sixth straight victory by pounding past Lexington, 43 to 32, on the Rams' court last night.

Herb Eldridge could not miss as he splashed in eight field goals and three foul shots for 19 points for the rampaging Rams.

Lexington's high scoring Rollin Ford accounted for nine tallies. Held to one gift shot the first half, Ford suckered the Madison defense out of position twice to flip in two bunny shots from under the basket in the third stanza.

The Minutemen forward added two more goals in the final frame on pivot shots. He is in third place in the Richland county individual scoring race with 90 points.

Eldridge accounted for five of the Rams' seven points in the initial quarter. Madison led, 7-4. Dick Ernsberger took over the chores in the second period. He sank three baskets for six of the Rams seven markers, the half ending with the Rams ahead, 14-8.

Bob Wilson, Madison, opened up the second half with a pivot shot. Then Ford sank two sucker shots in succession. Ray Cline made good on a rebound for Lexington and the score was 16-14, Madison.

This was the closest Lexington ever came to the Rams during the entire game. Eldridge then took charge and hit a pivot shot, one-handed long shot and a foul.

Madison had a 26 to 17 lead on Lexington going into the last frame. Eldridge split the nets for nine points in the fourth quarter before being replaced. The Rams added 17 points in those eight minutes.

Lexington won the reserve game 22 to 19.

Oklahoma Indians Play Memphis Pros At Senior High

The Oklahoma Indians will meet the Memphis All American Whiz Kids in the Mansfield Senior high gym next Monday night at 8:30.

It is the second professional basketball offering of the season under the auspices of the Mansfield City A basketball league.

Every player on the Indian squad is a full-blooded brave from the Stillwater (Oklahoma reservation) and all except one go over the six-foot mark. The Warriors have run up 38 victories in 41 games this season.

Not only are the Indians reputed to be fine ball handlers and good shots, they add to the program with pre-game and halftime exhibitions. Dressed in native regalia, including headfeathers and war paint, the braves execute dances to the beat of tom toms, sing tribal songs and smoke the peace pipe.

Charlie Justice, Detroit softball pitching star and a fine basketball player, coaches the colored Whiz Kids. They have lost only two games this season.

Barney Ross Is Ready To Face World Again

CHICAGO—(UP)—Barney Ross, a never say die man whose valor was proved in boxing, in war and finally, in a struggle which conquered the drug habit, was in seclusion with his family today, ready to face another fight to put his personal world in order.

The 37-year-old ex-champion in three boxing classes, who won a presidential citation for valor in bloody Guadalcanal fighting with the marines, returned to his home last night, immediately after his release from the U. S. Public Health Service hospital at Lexington, Ky.

Barney was taken to see his mother as soon as he debarked from the plane. It was his first visit with her since two days before he entered the hospital. She had left her home to stay with friends while her son was here, and Barney planned to spend most of his time with her.

Hospital authorities said he was "cured" of drug addiction, acquired when overcoming war wounds, which he voluntarily reported in September, stunning the sports world.

Ross licked the drug habit "fairly and squarely," the same way he won the lightweight, welterweight and junior welterweight boxing championships. To get those he defeated such flailing punchers as Henry Armstrong, Tony Canzoneri, Bat Battalino, Billy Petrolle and Jimmy McLarnin. This time he fought his fight alone in a hospital ward, but the result was the same—his arm was raised in victory over another foe.

Barney, now graying, said he would remain in Chicago for three or four days and then go to California on business. There was no confirmation that he would visit his estranged wife, Catherine Howlett Ross, now a Hollywood dancer, while in the West.

Mrs. Ross has sued Barney for divorce, but the former ring king hopes to change her mind about that.

Barney's war service on Guadalcanal indirectly caused his addiction to drugs. Remaining under fire for two days to protect wounded men, he was struck with shrapnel. To relieve his pain while recovering, corpsmen gave him morphine. The shots became necessary for him to sleep, he said, and he arranged to get them later while in the United States.

When he realized what had happened, he reported to federal authorities and asked for help. Today he was cured.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

To illustrate the point that a ham actor simply cannot help exaggerate, Abel Green, wily editor of Variety cites the story of the ofttar who found himself involved in one of the most disastrous flares of the season.

The world night, the box office took exactly eight dollars. The star saw that there was no use trying to conceal the facts from his pals at the Lambs Club, so he decided to put on a bold front.

"I think the take tonight must have been the lowest gross in Broadway history," he confided to them. "Just think of it! Only 16 bucks!"

Abel calls the reporters on his staff "My Muggs." One of the youngest, he admits, has Tarzan eyes. "They swing from limb to limb."

To get his mind off the girls Abel took him on a sunny afternoon to the Central Park Zoo. The muggle pointed at one animal and said, "I can see now why they call that a giraffe. Look at the long neck it has."

DON BOSH ELECTED SCHOOL BOARD HEAD

IBERIA — The Washington-Bloomfield school board renamed Don Bosh and Ivan Rule chairman and vice chairman at its yearly reorganization meeting, Dwight McClarren, who was retained as clerk of the board, announced today. Other board members are Don Baker, Edward Hall and Garca Warner.

The school district voters passed a $25,000 bond issue in November and McClarren said the bonds will be sold at the regular board meeting at the Iberia school next Monday. Following the bond sales, bids for construction contracts will be received by the clerk.

A new building will enable school officials to offer a complete manual arts course to the rural youths by the installation of a full line of farm shop tools as well as relieving an overcrowded condition in the school, Supt. Earl E. Bowman reports. School enrollment increased by 50 pupils over the last year.

GALION AUTHORIZES $100,000 IN NOTES

GALION — The issuance of $100,000 in anticipatory notes for the improvement of the city's light and power facilities was authorized at an adjourned meeting of city council Monday. The notes will be dated Feb. 1, 1947.

This will make possible the purchase of diesel generator units to supply auxiliary light and power in Galion. The purchase will be made through Preston W. Duffy of Columbus, diesel broker. The units have been used a short time, but they will be thoroughly factory reconditioned before delivery in Galion, Duffy said.

Council previously had authorized the board of control to purchase three 1,000 kilowatt General Motors diesel generators from the War Assets administration.

OLDEST WORKER—Emmett J. Crookton, 124 Flint street, right, now rounding out 41 years of continuous employment with the Barnes Manufacturing company, receives a hearty handshake from Millard H. Pryor, president of the company at the annual dinner meeting of the Veterans' club in the Mansfield-Leland hotel last night. Crookton and other veteran employes were presented with transparent mystery clock by the company. Crookton went to work for Barnes in 1905.

* * * * *

Veteran Workers at Barnes Honored for Lengthy Service

Ten clocks were presented, one of them posthumously, to members of the Veterans club of the Barnes Manufacturing company at the annual dinner of the club at the Mansfield-Leland hotel last night.

Mrs. Bessie Volz, daughter of Fred Elkington, who died in December 1946, received the posthumous award and also was presented with a $2,000 check by Millard H. Pryor, president of the company.

The money constituted proceeds from a life insurance policy carried on Elkington by the company.

Two new members with 20 years' service were added to the club but because of illness only one was able to attend last nights' meeting.

Pryor presented a certificate of membership and a lapel pin to Dobra Boskov, who began work with the company in 1926. A similar presentation will be made today at the home of Nick Eichinger, who also started in 1926 and who was ill and unable to attend the meeting.

Members who were presented with clocks last night in addition to Boskov and Elkington, and the year from which their continuous employment dates were:

Emmett Crookton, oldest living employe, 1905; Ernest Schafer, 1909; Dewey Gallagher, 1917; Dwight McCullough, now vice president in charge of industrial relations, 1918; August Schuster, 1919; Sam Berger, 1920; Goebel W. Hall, 1922 and Salvatore Glorioso, 1923.

Two other members, Pete Kasper, who started in 1923 and Michael J. Loris, retired superintendent now vacationing in Florida were absent. Loris started work with the company in 1916.

The 30 persons present, which included members of the Veterans Club, their wives, the operating committee of the company and their wives, heard a talk by Sid Smith.

Smith, who began working for the company in June 1896 only nine months after its organization, related some of this early experiences at the plant.

'Plant With Heart.'

Smith resigned his job as superintendent with the company to take a position with the industrial commission of Ohio. In his talk he emphasised that "Barnes is a plant with a heart."

Fred B. Hout, vice president in charge of sales, acted as master of ceremonies.

Plans were made for an annual get-together on the anniversary of the company's corporation charter on Oct. 27, 18[illegible].

SECOND PLAN TO BY-PASS CITY OFFERED

Highway Director Perry T. Ford to $15,000,000 because of increased construction costs) and cost of the southeastern location at $6,834,000.

But highest consideration by the highway department seems to be on the central problem of relief for traffic congestion and in that respect Lichtenwalter points out that the northern location would receive 1.57 times as many vehicle-miles of traffic volume for the entire route as would the southeastern site.

And in Mansfield and immediate vicinity, the northern route would receive 2.5 times as many vehicle-miles of traffic.

Ties In Fewer Routes.

The report points out that the southeastern route would connect with only three main highways, U. S. Route 30 to the east of Mansfield, State Route 13 south of the city, and State Route 97 near Lexington.

In contrast, the northern route would eventually connect with U. S. Route 30 and State Route 39 to the east of Mansfield, State Routes 13 and 545 to the north, U. S. Routes 30-N and 30-S to the west, State Route 545 to the southwest of the city, and State Route 97 near Lexington.

"A much larger proportion of the total traffic in and around Mansfield will be benefited if the northern location is selected, althought it will be much more expensive to build due to the embankment sections, grade separation structures and damage to existing property," the report states.

"Choice of the southeastern route, while less costly than the northern, would afford no improvement to the present U. S. Route 42 entering Mansfield from the south or to U. S. Routes 30-N or 30-S. The improvement of these routes should be considered essential to the ultimate development of modern traffic facilities through Mansfield."

The report declares that the cost of improving these "secondary" highways individually, in the event the southeastern location is selected, plus the costs of the latter would "greatly exceed" the total expense of building the northern route as a unit.

After recommending, therefore, that the northern route be selected, the report estimates that its economic life would be 30 years, that it would need resurfacing after 14 years, and that it would cost approximately $416,000 each year to operate and maintain the expressway.

PRINTERS END STRIKE

ZANESVILLE—(AP)—A strike of printers which forced suspension of the morning Times Recorder for two days and the evening Signal for one ended today with signing of a new contract for higher wages.

Band Marks Anniversary

18, 1922. This was made possible by the Mansfield Rotary, Kiwanis and Exchange clubs which supplied funds to purchase instruments and engage instructors. Uniforms were furnished by 15 Mansfield businessmen, all members of the Chamber of Commerce.

In 1923, a band of 42 members was playing for all school activities and civic affairs. This was also the first year that the band appeared at football games.

Even with make-shift uniforms, the band was an attractive ensemble. Red sweaters with the letters "MHS" were worn by both boys and girls, completed with white trousers for the masculine members and white skirts for the girls. These outfits were decidedly more cheerful than the winter band togs of khaki trousers and skirts and leather leggings.

First place in the state class A contest came for the band in 1926. First boy to lead the group was Fred Long. The second honor as state champions came in 1930.

Elected last night to fill the unexpected term of treasurer was Ray D. Schaaf, 66 Woodstreet. Schaaf will replace E. H. Lockwood who has left the city. President of the Band Parents' club is Howard Kochheiser.

WINTER PLANS TURNPIKE BILL

COLUMBUS—(UP)—A bill to organize an Ohio turnpike commission with power to condemn land for construction of turnpike projects was introduced in the senate of the 97th Ohio general assembly today.

Sen. Ralph A. Winter, R., Lodi, said he would introduce the bill allowing a five-member commission to issue tax free investment bonds to finance the building of projects approved by the governor and highway director.

The turnpikes may become free after the bonds are retired under provisions of the bill. They would then become a part of the state highway system.

Four members of the commission would be appointed by the governor at a yearly salary of $5,000 and the highway director would be an ex-officio member.

HUNGRY THIEVES STEAL ORANGES

Thieves followed a truck wheel through the front window of the Hill Top market, South Main street, and stole $5 worth of fruit.

Saturday night a runaway wheel crashed through the window. The window was boarded up.

Last night, Manager David Tennant reported, thieves pried off the boards, reached through the broken window to steal apples and oranges.

TRIPLETS ARE SIX TODAY—Today was an important event in the lives of Sara Lou (left), William J., and Carol Ann Solomon, of 431 Edgewood. It's their sixth birthday!. They're being "taken out" to dinner tonight in the Mansfield-Leland dining room by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll J. Solomon and their elder sister, Mary Margaret, 8, second grader in St. Peter's school. There'll be a large birthday cake right in the center of the table. "They like to go out to dinner so well that we promised them a birthday treat," Mrs. Solomon said. "Last year they had their birthday along with mumps and whooping cough."

HAMILTON NAMED DEMS' PRESIDENT

Jack Hamilton was elected president of the Richland county Young Democratic club at a meeting last night. He succeeds Atty. H. W. McClellan.

Other officers elected were William Laser, vice president; Georgia Mentzer, secretary; Tom Hoffman, treasurer; Richard L. Remy, parliamentarian and George Conner, sergeant-at-arms.

The club voted to donate $10 to the Friendly House.

Pay Checks Held As Rivals Quarrel

COLUMBUS—(INS)—A dispute over the position as as head of the state's public works department caused pay checks of 282 department employes to be held up today.

While Frank L. Raschig of Cincinnati and J. L. McCormick of Ravenna aired their respective claims to the job before the state supreme court, State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson refused to honor pay rolls or other departmental bills. Ferguson said he would not authorize payment until it was determined whose signature was legal.

Revolt Sweeps Tammany Hall

NEW YORK—(AP)—The long-simmering, behind-the-scenes revolt against the present Tammany Hall regime burst into the open today as insurgent Tiger leaders quit the organization to set up a new political body with the backing of Mayor William O'Dwyer and Democratic State Chairman Paul E. Fitzpatrick.

Meanwhile it was reported at city hall that the new group led by Frank J. Sampson would receive the city and state patronage formerly given to Tammany.

CITY PURCHASE PLAN EXPLAINED

The city's new purchasing system was explained today to department heads at a special meeting in Mayor Roy W. Vaughn's office.

Organized by Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow to keep a running account of money expended from various funds, the system was outlined by Mrs. Dorothy Davis, new clerk in the director's office.

It would require department heads to estimate the cost of an item to an order before it was placed. The cost thus could be charged against the fund from which payment eventually will be made.

Thus, if other purchases are to be made from the same fund the daily balance would show whether there is sufficient money for them.

Mrs. Davis pointed out that in addition to providing a running check on various funds, the system also would eliminate the need for piece-meal extra appropriations throughout the year. Extra appropriations would be handled under one bill.

Mr. Farmer:
How About Lime?

Many farmers were disappointed last year as production and spreading facilities were not sufficient to take care of every one at the last minute. We had ideal weather in 1946 but we may not be so fortunate in 1947. Plant breakdowns, truck failures and bad weather seriously affect lime deliveries.

During the winter months when the ground is frozen is one of the best times to spread lime. Place your order now for delivery as soon as possible and then if we do not get it on while the ground is frozen, you will be first in line for spring delivery.

You can purchase your lime now for cash and turn your bills into the AAA for credit provided that you sign a farm plan. The AAA cannot tell you exactly how much lime you can get until after April 1st when all farm plans have been signed. You can, however, get as much as you were granted under your first lime allotment last year. If this is not clear to you, check with your county AAA office.

Order your lime now. Remember, we cannot deliver everyone's lime at the same time.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS SENIOR HIGH PUPILS

Speech Students Show the Progress They've Made.

An impressive demonstration of effective public speaking, prepared and impromtu, was given for Mansfield Rotary club members and guests yesterday by four pupils from the speech classes at Mansfield Senior high school.

Introduced by E. L. Heasley, head of the speech department in the high school, James Garrison and William McKee spoke on subjects chosen at random from a list of 18 they had not previously seen. Robert Frere and Joanne Fay followed with prepared speeches.

While the speakers were taking a few moments to assemble material in their minds for their talks, Heasley spoke briefly on public speech in the school system.

"One of the most pathetic situations in the Ohio high schools," he said, "is that training in speech is the most sadly neglected phase in the entire curriculum.

"Speech is a large portion of our personality," he continued. "In the more than 20,000 ways of making a living in this nation speech plays a most important factor."

Showing what has been done in the Mansfield schools since his arrival here 10 years ago Heasley then presented his pupils.

James Garrison led off with a talk on "Front Page Stuff." He related the facts of the disastrous Winecoff hotel fire and Coulter train wreck as outstanding examples of front page news. He told of some human elements that lay behind these stories where ministers came to the aid of the disaster victims.

William McKee, speaking on "In 1999," pointed to the work of the American Legion Boy's State as an example of building for the future.

Robert Frere and Joanne Fay then gave prepared talks on "The High and the Low Roads to the West," Frere and a companion having hitch-hiked to the west coast while Joanne went with her family.

J. William Bloor was chairman of the luncheon program in the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Four Youths Held In Auto Crash Case

BUCYRUS—Four Bucyrus high school youths admitted theft and wrecking of a car belonging to Floyd Barrett, Virginia avenue, after questioning in probate court Tuesday. The boys have been turned over to juvenile officers for disposal of the case.

The car was wrecked after the young people had appropriated the car to drive to the Galion-Bucyrus cage game at Galion Friday night. Only one of the four was in the car on the return trip when the car was wrecked on a curve on Route 19 just east of Bucyrus.

6,400 OHIO VETS FACE DECREASE IN SUBSISTENCE

About 6,400 Ohio veterans in job-training or school will have their subsistence allowances reduced to conform to the $175-$200 ceilings, according to William L. Chestister, chief of the vocational rehabilitation and education division in the Cleveland regional office, Veterans' Administration.

Approximately 35,000 earnings reports for August, September and October were received from veterans, and about 16,000 individual subsistence allowances will have to be reviewed. In the cases reviewed so far, about 40 percent show overpayments, Chestister said.

The VA is notifying these veterans of the overpayments and asking them to pay back the excessive subsistence allowances. Their future payments will be reduced to bring them into line with the ceilings.

Chestister emphasized that the government has not imposed a ceiling on the earnings of veterans, but has placed a limit on the payment of subsistence. A veteran can earn any amount, but when his wages reach $175 for a single person or $200 for a married person, subsistence payments are cut off.

Veterans notified of overpayments may arrange to repay the VA on an installment basis by writing to the finance division of the Cleveland Regional office. Failure to return the overpayments will result in subsistence allowances being cut off and applied against the government's claim.

The review of earnings has been put on a monthly basis with veterans requested to report every four months. These reports must be certified by the employer and returned by the fifth day of the following month.

Subsistence payments should not be reported as earnings. VA contacts representatives and training officers will help any veterans needing assistance in making out these reports.

VET INSURANCE ADVICE OFFERED

Mansfield veterans can now get full couseling and assistance relative to their government National Service Life insurance at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief commission offices located in the basement of Memorial hall, Harry Vandervort, service officer, said today.

Vandervort returned recently from a meeting of 55 county service officers at the Veterans' Administration branch office in Columbus. Arranged and taught by the VA, the program pertained to the VA program with emphasis on veterans' insurance.

"The general purpose of the program is to get every veteran to reinstate his term life insurance before Feb. 1, after which time a physical examination can be required before reinstatement is made," Vandervort said. "Until Feb. 1, policies may be reinstated simply by paying two month's premiums," he added. "The veteran can take up to the eight-year limit to decide on which method of conversion to permanent insurance he desires."

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE FOUR · MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 15, 1947

Now that January is at the halfway point—how are those New Year's resolutions coming along?

A check-up reveals that pre-holiday sales at state liquor stores "were lighter than expected"—is that bad?

Realtors explain that there would be plenty of houses, except for shortage of materials and labor—which clears up the whole thing in a muddled sort of way.

Detroit To Study Strike-Prevention Plan

ASIDE from any proposed legislation designed to prevent strikes, all possible efforts toward better labor-management accord will still appear advisable, as recognition of mutual interests will go far in bringing about the friendly relations which will continue essential to full production.

It is apparently with some such thought in mind that the strike-disturbed city of Detroit is planning to follow the Toledo pattern of establishing a labor-management-citizen program by which it is hoped to prevent many threatened strikes.

Action is being initiated through the Detroit city council and the mayor would be required to name an 18-man committee (with six representatives each from labor, management and the general public) to prepare and submit a detailed program, after inquiring into experiences in Toledo and other cities.

While some strikes are not under control of local union leaders or workers—as in the cases of last year's Westinghouse and steel plant strikes in Mansfield—there are some instances in which fair-minded arbitration would be effective in ironing out differences and preventing work stoppages.

It would appear that cities—large and small—might benefit by study of what has become known as "the Toledo plan," so as to be in readiness for action in the event of conditions arising which might make the availability of such a committee advantageous.

There is also the thought that such a program might be more readily adapted to small cities than to extremely large ones.

Sometimes Improper To Applaud

A MEMBER of last week's Civic Music concert audience writes to protest the applause which followed the National Male Quartet's singing of "The Lord's Prayer." This is a sacred number and the writer felt that silence would have been a more fitting tribute.

One of the city's best-informed musicians tells us that technically speaking The Lord's Prayer in musical setting should not be applauded. The strict rule is that music is not applauded when the text is taken verbatim from the Bible. This is true of Malotte's "The Lord's Prayer." It is in the same tradition as that the audience stands during the singing of Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus".

However, a great many sacred numbers are merely adaptations of the Biblical text and it is perfectly proper to applaud these in concert or recital, though of course not if they are part of a religious service.

The musician pointed out that it is now customary for artists to announce that they do not wish applause for certain sacred numbers. This removes the possibility of any error.

Applause for the number in question might be excused on the grounds that the audience was very greatly impressed by the beauty of the rendition. It will be recalled that it has only been a few years since Mansfielders learned not to applaud between movements of a symphony or sonata. They did learn, however. And as the city provides more and more opportunity to hear good music, audiences will have a chance to learn the niceties of listener etiquette.

'Jack' Warwick's Noteworthy Career

WHETHER or not his name ever is accorded a plaque in Ohio journalism's Hall of Fame, which is sponsored by the Ohio State University, newspaper men who have known of "Jack" Warwick and his fine record of service with the Toledo Blade, will place him high among the men whose influence has been keenly felt in Ohio newspaper circles for a half century or more.

Occasion for this reference is that "Jack" Warwick passed away at his home in Toledo a few days ago, at the age of 85, thus ending his "All In a Lifetime" reflections, which for many years held the unflagging interest of Blade readers, and paragraphic excerpts from which were widely quoted by other newspapers throughout the country.

Born on a farm near Caledonia, Marion county, Mr. Warwick was a boyhood friend of former President Warren G. Harding, and his earliest venture into newspaper work was in partnership with Harding in rejuvenating the Marion Star, which they rescued from impending failure in the years succeeding 1884, when, as enthusiastic youths, they "pooled their resources and borrowed a shoestring" to acquire the Star.

Included in possibly the only reference Mr. Warwick ever made to his own career is the thought: "Is it not rather strange that a boy, who did little or no planning for himself, could be picked up by the tide of years and carried always into such pleasant harbors?"

And with an abiding faith in a future life for which earthly existence is preparatory, it takes no stretch of imagination to vision "Jack" Warwick's course as continuing into "pleasant harbors."

Finland Grants Titles For Price

REVENUE-HUNGRY cities and states, and even Uncle Sam, could get a hint from Finland. The Finnish government is selling fancy civilian titles for a graduated fee. "Councillor of State," which suggests an important government position though it is actually nothing of the sort, costs $2,000. People wanting some title, any title, and unable to pay any such sum, can become "Director of Music" or of choir singing. This costs only $8.

The idea has possibilities in the United States, as evidenced by the high-sounding titles used by some fraternal orders and the honorary degrees conferred by colleges. There would be limitations, however, in this country, as the Constitution forbids conferring titles of nobility.

One observer comments that while Bob Taft is attaining prominence "he can't quite put up the front his father did"—if you see what he means.

Add to useless information: "There are fifty varieties of cranberries."

When Three People Know a Thing It's No 'Secret,' Truman Learns

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Unlike many other resignations, the real reason for Secretary of State Byrnes's resignation was just what the official announcement said — his health. There was, however, backstage drama behind the sudden announcement January 6, instead of waiting until January 10 as planned.

Late in the afternoon of January 6, Byrnes got a call from a newsman clearly indicating that he knew the resignation was imminent.

Hurrying over to the White House, the secretary of state told President Truman of the phone call and asked him how the story could have leaked.

"I didn't tell a soul except Bill Hassett," Truman replied, referring to one of his White House secretaries.

"But Admiral Leahy knew it," corrected Byrnes, "because he mentioned it to me."

"Oh, yes," admitted the president, "Admiral Leahy knew."

It was then decided to issue an immediate press release in order to "scoop" the newsman, and the president called in press secretary Charlie Ross. Whereupon it developed that he had also told Charlie Ross about the impending Byrnes resignation.

Thus, although the president apparently didn't realize it, he had told at least three people about Byrnes's plan to resign. And when more than two people know a thing in Washington, it isn't a secret.

Note—Mrs. Byrnes was a little miffed because she got the news of her husband's retirement from newspapermen who phoned her. She had known that her husband was going to resign later in the week, but she didn't know about the rush announcement.

CIO OK's Truman.

When newsmen asked CIO boss Phil Murray for his views on the president's proposed curbs on jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts, he replied a flat "no comment." However, Murray had plenty to say in a confidential chat with his friend and namesake, Senator Jim Murray of Montana, Democratic ex-chairman of the senate labor committee.

The CIO leader not only endorsed legislation to prevent jurisdictional tie-ups and secondary boycotts, but other Truman proposals.

"The message was fair and public-spirited," the CIO chief told Senator Murray. "Labor can have no quarrel with it."

Some years ago, he set up a committee within the CIO which had been highly successful in dealing with jurisdictional union problems, CIO's Murray told Montana's Murray.

"As a result," he said, "we have little or no trouble with jurisdictional disputes within the CIO today."

He admitted that there is still considerable jurisdictional strife between the CIO and the AFL, which might be remedied by congressional action.

"On several occasions in the past, I have recommended to Bill Green (AFL president) that a joint CIO-AFL committee be set up to iron out our factional disputes in various industries. We of the CIO realized that something would have to be done, and we hoped that labor itself would take the initiative."

Green promised to "think it over," the CIO leader said, but nothing further was heard from him.

Van's New Limousine.

The new senate is getting obvious pleasure out of watching Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan in his new job as president pro tem of the senate. Part of this is because of Vandenberg's unconcealed happiness in the job, part because many never did relish Senator Kenneth MacKellar of Tennessee in the president's chair.

New Hampshire's Senator Charles Tobey, however, could not resist putting Vandenberg on the spot. Talking with a group of GOP colleagues in the senate restaurant, Tobey mentioned the long, sleek limousine, with liveried chauffeur, which goes to Vandenberg along with his new job.

"Now, we of the Republican party are pledged to the maintenance and extension of American democracy," said Tobey, looking at Vandenberg. "I wonder if the president of the senate would not agree that it is up to us to demonstrate our fundamental belief in that democracy wherever possible.

"As a gesture of democracy, therefore," continued Tobey, "let me propose to the president of the senate that he practice real democracy in the use of his new limousine. There are 51 Republican senators, and 52 weeks in the year. Would it not be a true democratic gesture to assign the limousine to each senator for one week of the year, with the president of the senate himself to have its use for two weeks?"

Vandenberg grinned. Somebody came to his rescue by changing the subject.

Committee Haggling.

Not much has been said about Democratic wire-pulling in assigning members to senate committees, but it has been just as hot a subject behind closed doors as the assignment of Republicans.

By adopting a rule that assignments go on the basis of seniority in the senate, rather than length of membership on the committees themselves, the Democrats were able to bar certain liberals of long experience from certain key committees.

Outstanding example was the assignment of Senator Carl Hatch of New Mexico to the foreign-relations committee, after only one year's experience, while Senators Claude Pepper of Florida and Theodore Green of Rhode Island, far more experienced, have served on the committee for eight years.

How Bilbo Stepped Aside.

It was Senator Theodore Bilbo himself, working through kindly Senator Clyde Hoey of North Caroline, who arranged the 60-day vacation moratorium on his fight for a senate seat.

Convinced that he did not have a chance to win his battle during the opening days of congress, Bilbo went to Senator Hoey. Telling the silver-haired Tarheel that he knew himself to be licked, Bilbo continued, his voice choked with emotion:

"But I am flat broke, and if they kick me out now, I won't even have railroad fare back to Mississippi.

"Now I have looked up the law, and if I will step aside for two or three months I can draw my pay and have enough to cover my hospital bills for a second operation on my mouth."

Hoey told Bilbo he doubted that pay could be drawn without first being sworn in, but agreed to get in touch with Democratic Leader Barkley. It was found that Bilbo's interpretation was correct.

Barkley and Hoey then went to GOP leader Taft who called Senators Wallace White jr., of Maine and Eugene Millikin of Colorado to his office. Taft and White were for immediate acceptance but Millikin balked, insisting that Bilbo be barred "now and for all time."

The two Democrats pointed out that, even with a revision of the cloture rules, something which itself might precipitate a filibuster, it might take as long as 30 days to oust "The Man."

So, after about 40 minutes of discussion, Colorado's Millikin agreed that if Dr. George W. Calver, Capitol physician, would give it as his professional opinion that Bilbo was genuinely in need of an operation, he, Millikin, would "go along."

That was how the deal was arranged.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, Jan. 15, 1927.

Dell S. Anderson's barber shop, in basement at 46 North Main street, was robbed by hold-up man who escaped with $80.65.

Harvey White, 29 Highland avenue, suffered ankle injury by fall while skiing at Westbrook Country club.

Farmers' institute held in Lucas high school after two days of well-attended sessions.

Dr. Rees E. Tulloss, former pastor here, was elected president of National Lutheran Educational conference.

Mrs. John M. Piper, 84, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John W. Cline, Lincoln Heights.

Emerson Fancher, 160 North Diamond street, told police his sled had been stolen from porch of his home.

Little friends attended birthday party given for Alice Parsell, Woodville road.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

On Jan. 15, 1908, the United States senate passed a joint resolution remitting to China $13,000,000 of the Boxer Indemnity.

Dave Boone Says:

I SEE where the Veterans Administration now says it is going to begin a check on appraisals of homes built for war veterans so that the vets won't be greaseballed into poorly built homes, away overvalued. The vets certainly need some action like this. The mortgages they're taking on some of 'em ought to cover a cluster of such places.

I pity an ex-GI. Every time I see one looking at some of those good - if - kept-in-a-cool-dry-place bungalows. And the asking prices! The fellow who fixes the prices ain't exactly a soldier's best friend.

The Veterans Bureau says it is going to hire independent appraisers, with no interest in the property. That's fine, if we can depend on it and can keep politics out.

The builder has no easy job these days He's up against all kinds of handicaps and high prices. And he rates a fair profit. But some pretty big prices are being asked for some pretty sleazy looking dwellings.

Assignment: America

—By KENNETH L. DIXON

"Three R's" Are Being Given a New Meaning.

WASHINGTON — It is a rare day that passes in this nation's capital without some speech-maker arising to shout that "our schools are being run by radicals," or that "our public school system is a breeding-ground for Communists and Socialists!"

Since there are rotten apples in every barrel, once in a blue moon such frenzied forensics are founded on some faint and flimsy factual truth.

However, countless investigating agencies long since have established that for the most part such talk is utterly, ungratefully and shamefully without truth, fact or foundation.

But unless the nation wakes up, it might not always be so . . .

Recently sitting in the gallery of the house of representatives was an aged educator, known to be one of the most conservative men in his profession. Some even call him a reactionary.

The lines deepened in his tired face as he listened to just such a tirade against the nation's teachers—indirect but unmistakeable. Later, he said, slowly and sadly:

"There's no truth today in what he says, but if the time ever comes when American teachers start turning to communism, socialism or some other ideology, the American people will have only themselves to blame!

Why?

Because today the teaching profession is the economic and social stepchild of democratic America.

Because teachers are expected to laud to their students a system which today is giving them the worst kicking-around of any working ground in the land.

And because, for the modern public school teacher, the famed "Three R's" have been revised to read, "rags, regimentation and ridicule . . ."

Reason enough for taking action?

There are some senators and representatives who think so. And because they do, a measure involving some federal aid for the nation's public schools soon will face the new congress for action.

Said one senator flatly, "this problem is second only to the immediate urgency of the atomic bomb . . . and perhaps it isn't even second to that. Use or non-use of the atomic bomb during the next decade will be determined by the political ideologies developed in our schools—and by the extent to which we educate our children. Right now, we're sidetracking that job, and we may pay for it tomorrow!"

If you need more reason for congressional action, listen to a few of these facts uncovered by the senate's education committee:

More than 600,000 qualified teachers have quit the profession since 1941. (Normal national teaching staff: about 900,000.)

Current average annual salary of a teacher in public elementary and secondary schools is $1,850—representing a terrific recent raise! Yet, hundreds of thousands still receive only a little more than $1,000 annually, and thousands of teachers get only $600 for a year's work.

During the war, 676,000 draftees were rejected for mental or educational deficiencies, and mostly educational. In addition, there were 350,000 who signed their names with a mark. Rejections alone outnumbered the combat soldiers in either the African or the Pacific campaigns!

More than 10,000 classrooms now are closed for lack of teachers.

Of the teachers now working, more than 130,000—or one out of every eight—are substandard in training, carrying only "emergency certificates."

Of the 728,000 veterans attending college under the GI Bill of Rights, less than 18,000 are preparing to teach school, and most of those already admit dismay at the financial prospect.

Among non-veteran students, the percentage is even less—lowest in modern history.

So-o-o . . . more than five million youngsters of school age are not in school . . . juvenile crime rate is jumping until crime now costs more than five times the money spent annually in the entire public school system!

Small Taxpayers Need a Spokesman.

WASHINGTON—There used to be a fellow around here named Jack Garner. He was from Texas.

Some remember him as vice president. Some remember him before that as speaker of the house. Some of us remember him back beyond that when he was the alert and belligerent Democratic minority leader, and some few of us still further back when he was ranking minority member of the ways and means committee.

That was after World War I when Republicans overthrew Democrats and captured control of congress, just as they did after World War II. A lot of things were about the same then as now. Republicans came in with a tax reduction scheme, submitted by Treasury Secretary Mellon.

It gave lots of relief to those with big incomes, without proportionate relief to those with small incomes. A lot of propaganda was generated behind it.

Jack Garner worked out a Democratic tax plan which gave more relief to the small taxpayer. His party was in the minority as now. But he organized his forces, rallied some Republican support, and literally tore the Mellon tax plan to pieces and rewrote the bill on the house foor

History repeats itself in some ways. Republicans, again assuming control of congress, have come forward with a proposed flat 20 per cent cut in personal income taxes up to $300,000 incomes, with 10 per cent on the handful above that. It takes only simple arithmetic to show that this will represent little cash relief to small taxpayers, but considerable to those of large incomes.

But a Jack Garner seems to be missing today. Rep. McCormack (D., Mass.), former house Democratic leader and for many years on the ways and means committee, comes along to concede blandly that Republicans have enough votes to put their plan through. However, he deplored the Republican scheme as "unsound" and suggested a "study" of means to lift the load on the little fellow.

The Democratic minority seems strangely inert and weak-kneed. Maybe it is still numb from election shell-shock.

Here is a ready-made issue, a matter of plain justice to millions who once formed the party's bulwark of strength, and also wise from a purely political standpoint, if nothing more fundamental were involved. Furthermore, Democrats have a president who has spelled the issue out clearly in recent messages to congress.

It was forecast here some time ago that Republicans probably would use an "economy" excuse to cut down essential New Deal functions, so bitterly fought for years by big interests, though they would not dare do it openly and directly. That is exactly what is about to happen.

But, if a tax reduction is inevitable, President Truman has pointed out in the second place, millions of persons of low income who paid high taxes during the war "have a high priority among the claimants for tax relief.

He explained how business already has had great relief in repeal of excess profits taxes.

This is a plain cue to his lieutenants in congress.

Jack Garner is living on his ranch down at Uvalde, Tex. The mailman calls there every day, even if no one wants to go to the expense of buzzing him on long-distance telephone and asking for a few tips.

Folly to Consider Atomic Bomb "Secret."

WASHINGTON — Some of the talk about atomic control makes the folly of the ostrich with its head in the sand look like the wisdom of the ages. It denotes a kind of blindness that is terrifying.

This talk begins with the idea that we have a "secret" which we must guard indefinitely. It assumes that the atomic bomb, wrapped up in brown paper and sealed with sealing wax, can be kept forever at the bottom of the American arsenal.

It assumes that, if we keep it locked up in the American cupboard, no one else will ever have it. Guarding this weapon, we shall supervise the peace of the world.

This terrifying folly ignores the plain truth. In the Soviet Union an unknown number of scientists and technologists are working night and day to produce atomic fission.

No one in this country has any very concrete knowledge about progress. Some say it will take them eight, 10 or 12 years to get the "know-how." But, again, no one has any real knowledge.

If we wait until other countries have the process, it will almost certainly be too late to set up a police system. This is of the essence. Each day of delay makes our "secret" that much less valuable.

This same nonsense has colored some of the comment on the resignation of Bernard M. Baruch and of the men who served with him for America on the U. N. atomic energy commission. There is the suggestion that now, with Baruch's resignation, certain forces are for "appeasement" which apparently means giving away more of the "secret."

No responsible American, either in the government in Washington or in the United Nations in New York, is likely to depart very far from the Baruch position. Given the political outlook of the present senate, the atomic treaty could hardly contain less than the guarantees that Baruch proposed.

Maybe, with a different approach to the veto, it will be possible to reach an agreement with Russia that contains equivalent guarantees. We can count on Warren Austin, who now takes over from Baruch, to explore that possibility in all honesty and sincerity. However, the Soviet point of view as expressed in a recent editorial in Pravda did not seem to hold out much hope.

The burden now put on Austin is a heavy one. It is too bad that all the American members of the atomic energy commission resigned in a body. Their desire to step down, in view of the intensive work called for by the atomic assignment, is understandable. But Austin is in the position of taking over an enormously complex problem without the aid of those who have the specialized knowledge and background. Austin's position, as head of the U. S. delegation on the security council, was difficult and exacting enough before.

There are signs that the senate is developing a case of the atomic jitters. Senator H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire has indicated the need for an inquiry into the safeguards surrounding the "secret."

There is to be an inquiry into the fitness and background of the five men named, during the recess of congress, to the U. S. atomic energy commission.

This is the commission created under the McMahon bill to give to civilians control over all domestic phases of atomic energy. Whether this inquiry will be conducted by the senate commerce committee, as one group of Republicans desires, or by the nine senators who serve on the joint senate-house atomic committee is as yet undecided.

It is a delusion, and a perilous one, to think that delay can serve the United States. It is the delusion of the rich man who does not understand that his fortune is being drained away by the mere passage of time.

It is not of record that Russians, entertaining Westerners, are different from other hosts, who defer to the tastes and prejudices of the guest. It is usual, of course, that the visitor with no strong feeling in the matter will accommodate himself to the wines of the country. Shelby Schools Plan $600,000 Expansion Program

CONSTRUCTION TO START SOON ON NEW ANNEX

Building Shortages Retard Other Improvements.

By JOHN GRAY
N-J State Corespondent

SHELBY—Although the major portion of the $600,000 improvement program for Shelby schools will not get underway for some time, Supt. Byron H. Carmean today voiced the hope that the vocational agriculture shop for the high school can be built this year.

T. C. and E. C. Landberg, Cincinnati architects, have completed drawings for the shop in an annex to the present building. If costs are not prohibitive, a music department room would be included on the second story of the annex, Carmean said.

Laboratory equipment for refurnishing the high school physics department has been ordered with a promise of delivery in eight or 10 months, he said.

"Progress in obtaining equipment necessary to modernize the home economics kitchen and sewing room in the high school depends on availability of materials and the speed with which the orders are filled."

Shelby voters last November approved the $600,000 bond issue for construction of two grade schools and improvements to the present high school building. Construction of the two grade schools is expected to be delayed until building conditions are more favorable.

Heading the Shelby board of education which has charge of the building program is J. A. Anderson, Shelby attorney, who succeeded Dr. E. D. Dowds. Anderson's former office as vice president of the board is filled by Reymer Bricker, Jackson township's representative on the board. Mrs. Vera Kuhn is clerk.

Committees Appointed.

Committees named for the new year include Paul Curry and Bricker, finance; Arthur Love and Bricker, insurance; Anderson and Curry, buildings and grounds; Love and Dr. Dowds, supplies, and Dr. Dowds and Anderson, teachers, janitors and salaries.

A new salary program is expected to be worked out for the teachers this spring with money made available by the voters' approval of the two-mill operating levy last November.

All full-time employes of the schools received a flat $100 increase in December from funds anticipated from the levy. The other employes probably will be included in the new salary program when it is approved by the board later in the year.

BLACKY THE CROW WATCHES AND CHUCKLES

Blacky the Crow's way through life is rough and tough. In winter it is especially so. Few have it any rougher or tougher than do Blacky and Mrs Blacky. But they do not let this get them down. You never hear them whining or complaining. When you hear them at all, especially in mid-winter, there is something cheerful in their calls despite the harshness of their voices Listen to them the next time you have a chance on a cold winter day. I'm sure you will feel better for hearing them.

It is because they have a sense of humor, those two. If there is any fun to be seen they see it and chuckle over it and feel better for it, and are smart enough to know they feel better for it. So they always keep their sharp eyes open for something to chuckle over

In winter they usually fly far every day to get enough food Even so how they find enough to keep from starving when everything is covered with snow and ice is nothing less than wonderful to those who give a thought to the matter.

This day they were far from home. They had separated so as to double the chance of finding food. Now Blacky was resting high in a lone tree from which he could see far in all directions. He heard Dogs in the distance and knew by the sound that they were on the trail of a Fox.

"I wonder if it is Reddy or Mrs Reddy or some other Fox they are after," thought Blacky. "Of course somewhere around there is a hunter with a dreadful gun I wonder where he is"

His keen eyes searched all about. For a while he saw no one. Then far in the distance he saw the hunter step out from behind a tree where he had been waiting for the Dogs to drive the Fox to him For a couple of minutes he stood listening, then stepped back behind the tree. Blacky was tempted He was very much tempted It would be fun to fly above that hunter and caw the danger call at the top of his voice to warn that Fox to keep away from that place. He wasn't afraid of that hunter Long ago he had found out that hunters out after Foxes never shot at a Crow He didn't fly over there for just then he saw the two Dogs and a little ahead of them a Fox They were not running toward the hunter just then

"It is Mrs Reddy," exclaimed Blacky as she came out of some brush so that he could see her clearly "She has been running a long time and is tired out, poor thing I can tell that by the way she runs and the way she almost drags that big tail of her's as if it is too heavy I believe she is trying to get home to the Old Pasture, but I'm afraid she won't get there unless she can fool those Dogs better than she has done so far"

He looked back toward the distant Old Pasture. He saw a tiny red speck disappear among some bushes. A moment later he had another glimpse of it. It continued to disappear and reappear and it was coming toward him. Blacky chuckled. "Reddy Fox!" he exclaimed.

Just then Mrs. Blacky joined him. "Reddy is hurrying to help Mrs. Reddy. She's in a bad way and needs help," said Mrs. Blacky "What can he do?" asked Mrs. Blacky.

"If I know Reddy, and I think I do, he'll find a way to take over, for Mrs. Reddy and those Dogs will be chasing him instead of her and will not know the difference. He's smart, that Reddy Fox," replied Blacky. Being smart himself, he admires smartness in others

"Would you do as much for me?" asked Mrs Blacky, pretending to dress some feathers under one wing. Blacky pretended not to have heard.

A few minutes later they saw Mrs. Reddy disappear in some brush. Then Reddy entered it from another direction while the Dogs were trying to find the trail they had lost. They found it and a moment later Reddy left that patch of brush with the Dogs at his heels. Mrs. Reddy did not appear "What did I tell you?" chuckled Blacky

"Would you do as much for me?" repeated Mrs. Blacky.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, January 16

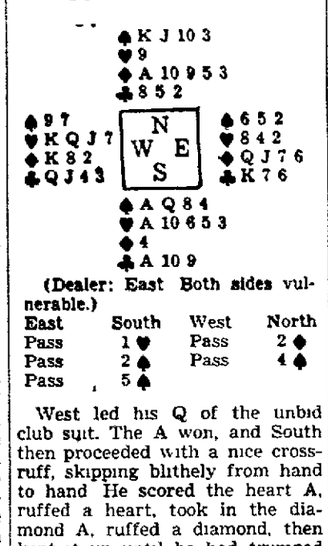
INTERESTING planetary configurations point to a program of new interests, affecting career, fresh objectives, with much of an expansive and eventful nature in finances, business and purely personal ambitions. In fact, the personal element is destined to figure in all plans and purposes, with happy contacts with those in high places and power. Approach these with definite and well-organized plans, and suppress instincts to the showy, exaggerated and extravagant in funds, energies, and speech

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of change, with fresh interests and associations, in which personal appeal may bring about pleasant relations with those in influential positions Such may be impressed by ability, efficiency and by reasonable and practical plans and propositions and not by exaggeration, and extravagance in word, acts and assets generally Prudence, economy and sound objectives may thrive with change and new plans of action

A child born on this day may have a capable and constructive equipment, with high ambitions and enterprise, but may defeat its best interests by exaggerated speech and ideas and by want of logic, prudence and thrift

Barclay on Bridge

THERE IS one situation, above all others, in which the opening leader should recognize the importance of leading a trump That is when each member of the declarer will wish to ruff one of the side suits in his hand and the other in the dummy. The opening leader has a chance to cut down the number of ruffs by leading a trump, which necessitates the declarer's side has bid a suit and the pair ultimately reaches a contract of fair height in the third suit they named. It is pretty close to a certainty then that the declarer using two trumps on that trick instead of employing them all singly.



(Dealer: East Both sides vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	2 ♦
Pass	2 ♠	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	5 ♠

West led his Q of the unbid club suit. The A won, and South then proceeded with a nice cross-ruff, skipping blithely from hand to hand He scored the heart A, ruffed a heart, took in the diamond A, ruffed a diamond, then kept it up until he had trumped four hearts in the North and four diamonds in the South Then at the end he gave up two tricks in clubs, having made his contract right on the head.

All told, South's 11 tricks included three with his side aces and eight with his eight trumps If West had led a spade, South would have had to put two trumps on the trick. That would have left him only six for cross-ruffing, or a total of only seven tricks with trumps. Those plus the three aces would have made only ten all told, one short of what he required following his slam invitation of 5-Spades which North properly refused.

PLANE CRASHES NEAR AIRPORT, KILLING THREE

Flying Fortress Explodes, Burns After Wrecking.

DAYTON—(AP)—A Flying Fortress crashed in a woods three miles from a Patterson Field landing strip last night killing three members of its crew and critically injuring a fourth.

At Wright Field, where the crew was stationed, officers identified the dead as Maj Walter L. Massengill of Dayton, pilot; Warrant Officer Benedict F. Jacquay of nearby Osborn, and Master Sgt. Lee P. Hartman, engineer.

Lieut. Marvin C. Rice, copilot, was in critical condition at Patterson Field hospital with severe lacerations and probable internal injuries.

The B-17 bomber made a routine test flight to Fort Benning, Ga., yesterday and was returning from Lawson Field when it crashed at 6:10 p. m. Wright Field reported

Three miles northwest of runways at the army's Patterson Field the big plane came down, cutting through underbrush and small trees for 500 yards before banging into a large tree and burning. The weather was rainy and it was dark when the ship hit.

The bomber came down gradually, its engines slackened, and it exploded with a roar as flames shot above the thicket where it struck, Mrs. Chester Campbell, who saw the crash from a nearby house, reported.
